All about Lylou:

This year Lylou has joined the American International Section at her school. She studies all the classic subjects of the French curriculum, but in addition they study history and geography in English and American Literature classes. She has also developed the interest in traveling. Her family has traveled to Italy, England, and Corsica. For sports previously she competed in swimming, but now she does not have the time to devote to the sport. She has discovered acrobatic gymnastics at school this year. She enjoys drawing, reading, and playing board games as well as meeting with friends during her free time. She lives at home with her parents and younger brother. She hopes to integrate as a member of her host family and create bonds that will last long after the program year. Apply today to host Lylou!
