All about King Hin:

King Hin, who goes by Hanson, is an only child and lives with his parents. He gets along with with his family. They enjoy family activities, playing board games together and visiting his grandparents. He excels in STEM related subjects, formed a team with his classmates and they have won many awards together. One of his favorites was the Robomaster competition that the team of 8 created a robot to battle against other teams. Hanson feels a exchange program will contribute to his language proficiency. It will allow him to develop his independence, experience a different education system and expand his global perspective. Share your America with King Hin and apply to become a host family with HSUSA!
