All about Darina:

Family is important to Darina and she has many traditions with them. As a family they enjoy watching a movie every weekend, having dinner together at least twice per week, and supporting each other in hard situations. She is looking forward to building a trusting relationship with her host family also. She enjoys reading in her free time. She likes to immerse herself into other worlds and associate with the characters. Her favorite books are Vanity Fair and the Hunger Games. She enjoys swinging while listening to music and loves to play chess. She is looking forward to sharing food and stories from her country. Is your family ready to share your “American traditions”?
