All about Greta:

Greta loves languages. She speaks French, as her mom was born in France, as well as English and a bit of German and Serbian. She is passionate about travel and getting to know other cultures that are different from hers. She has a great relationship with her family. She lives at home with her parents and younger brother and sister. She spends time helping her younger brother with his homework and watching movies together. She has two dogs in the home but loves animals in general. She feels that she is an extrovert, but sometimes it depends on the situation. She always tries to understand the point of others.
