All about Danfah:

Dear Host Family,

My name is Danfah, or you can call me in short "Proad" I grew up as the only child in a loving home in Thailand. I am friendly, generous, active and I am also fun to be around with. My favorite things to do are reading, presumably in various variation of topics around history/historical moment of the world because it helps me to discover how the world has evolved and how it functions. Besides that, I do like to swim and recently I have been getting into coding but still I am very rookie in this space.

I want to study and learn all about American, its profound historical mix of culture and what truly has made America great today. In as much I want to learn more about other cultures, I also want to share one of my very own country, Thailand. I want people to know about Thailand, I want to share more about what my country has to offer to the world. It is not just about Thai food or Thai top travel spot, but I want people to see a genuine Thai-ness through me. How sweet, caring and authentic people of my country - so called the "land of smile" and many other good traditions that associated with it. I want to express that more and to share more to the world.

To me, it's not all about the great wonderful education that I will be getting in the US, but it will be the moment where I can feel so proud to represent my country outside of Thailand. I want to speak the language that will allow my voice to be heard globally and in so many different ways on all positive things about Thailand. I feel that by becoming an Exchange student, it will allow me to achieve this dream so that one day I will come back to Thailand to help others to achieve the same so that we can all help Thailand to build more students with greater capacity and that one-day Thailand will be the world class country.
